

ERD/ERDgott is the darkest ever ERD, mixing wintered earth, and plague ergot fungus cultured on human blood.

For this strictly limited edition the ergot (claviceps purpurea) sclerotium has been collected from rye fields in Brandenburg, cultured on a preparation of agar, nutrients and blood, and mixed with earth from the same site, collected after the harvest.

Ergot is the original plague technology, parasitic on many food grains, infesting vegetable, human and animal blood and psyche. The consumption of ergot contaminated rye bread has been responsible for black death plagues of collective dancing, fever, mass hallucinations, violent burning sensations, necrosis, gangrene and loss of limbs. These pathological symptoms are known as ergotism or St. Anthony's fire. More recently ergot is a precursor within the synthesis of lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD). It has been linked to ancient mystery cults across Europe.

ERD/ERDgott encourages a local necrosis of patch cables and fleshy modules, blackened and burning plague technologies reverted to winter earth.

earth

earth

in

out

amp

Wire up the power connector (red stripe/-12V to left when facing the back) and plug in audio or control voltage signals to signal in, output from signal out and play with the amplification knob and CB/amp input.

Patching in an external earth pile will switch out the local earth container. You can plug two minilacks between an earth pile or forest site and the earth-labelled uppermost lack sockets of the module. Note that only the tip of the minilack should be connected to the earth pile.

This CRD/CRDgott module is numbered ..... in a strictly limited edition of 21.